Transformation

© Kim Rene Kiefer

Spring is a season of transformation — seeds sprout, trees bud, flowers bloom, bees swarm, birds sing. Wildflowers burst forth on hillsides in a riot of colors. Your season of transformation is here. Measure your life and invest in yourself. You are your best asset for change. Go for it!

Butterfly

A Monarch goes through an amazing transformation. Tiny caterpillar munching milkweed, day-by-day it feeds and inch-by-inch it grows. One day it spins a thread, by which it will suspend itself for metamorphosis. From caterpillar to chrysalis, irreversible change is set in motion. Watch this quick change artist as a new pattern emerges. Soon, it breaks free of its confinement, dries its wings, and soars on the breeze. You have witnessed a miracle. Let the Monarch inspire your personal, miraculous transformation.

Spring Cleaning

It's Spring! Throw open your windows and let in some fresh air. Dust away cobwebs, sweep up dust bunnies. Spruce up yard, wash and wax car. Try the following:

- Physical – Clean up your home, inside and out, to clear your etheric body. You'll feel different.
- Mental – Clean out your office files to clear your mental body. Sense your thoughtful clarity.
- Emotional – Release clutter to clear your emotional body. Watch your emotions subside.
- Spiritual – Clean up your attic to clear your spiritual body. Hear that still, small voice within.

A second floor may represent a level of your being. A room may embody a distinct part of your life. Inside is your internal world. Outside is your external world. Your home, your car, your body are reflections of you. Make the most of them!
