Matchmaker

A mate is a match. It is someone who matches you on many levels — mental, emotional, spiritual, and energetic. There is a comfortable feeling, a sense of coming home, an effortlessness and ease. You may feel as if you've known them all your life. Quite likely you've been with them before in one or more past lives. Let your heart guide you.

Wolf

Wolves are very loyal creatures and the alphas often mate for life. According to Ted Andrews, "Wolf medicine teaches respect and honor for family and for children." The pack is a community and each wolf has its place. Much like humans, they have their own social structure and forms of communication. A howl of joy is truly a call to the wild and free spirit within each of us. When was the last time you looked at the moon and howled with joy?

Quote

"Similarly, there is no one a wildish woman loves better than a mate who can be her equal."

~ From Women Who Run With the Wolves, by Clarissa Pinkola Estés

Mate Magic

A mate is a match on many levels. Awareness permeates the relationship across consciousness. There is an energetic soul connection that transcends time and space. You've watched matched pairs whose energy sparks across a room. It's almost tangible. And, truly magical to witness.

When you mature, you meet your match. You're past neediness, desire, and drama. You have surrendered yourself to life. Magic happens in the act of surrender.

Your sense of peace, wholeness, and completeness requires no one else. It's okay to be alone, which is simply All One. You are already all one with all that is, with yourself, with others, with the divine. And, of course, with your mate.

Ultimately, your mate is an addition to your life, not a completion. He or she is the icing on the cake, not a missing ingredient. When that magic moment happens, a mate will be the last thing on your mind. Then, wham!
